Terri Gaité

Joined: March 1998

Terri was born in Liverpool, England & loved going to the Sunday markets when she was little. ".....the big vans were stacked with china, all seconds from the nearby potteries – Stoke, Derbyshire & Staffordshire. The patterns and designs were so colourful & interesting. My Mam let me choose one piece if it was cheap enough."

She grew up in the 50s/60s "and it was all Rock and Roll, hitchhiking to the continent - au pairing in Paris – visiting the great sites and galleries, keeping up with the music scene, leaving home, working in London, getting to Cornwall, visiting Bernard Leach Studio."

Terri followed her boyfriend to Montreal (Canada), and joined a pottery night class. "...it was a great interesting time. I made a few ash trays, every mistake became an ash tray those days. I did make it into the end of the year display show and opening. My first group exhibition!!!

After marrying, Terri & her husband moved to Madison, Wisconsin (USA) with two sons in tow. "I worked in the Early Childhood Education Centre and did ceramic courses at Uni. Did workshops, went to conferences, met all the big name potters, sold in local craft shop and taught in the community centre. Went to many Museums, Art Gallery and travelled to see blockbuster shows and kept up with the music scene." After a move to Oregon, Terri & her family moved to Australia in the late 70s where she studied ceramics at Perth Tech. A job offer for her husband brought them to Adelaide where Terri continued her art interests both here and interstate.

"Being an avid reader and traveller on three continents has been a wonderful life, great with following the ceramic cultures and art practices, languages and friendships of the many people whose paths I have crossed. Sharing a meal with friends using the pottery I have made gives me great pleasure."

Gallery M Open Contemporary Prize 2016

an exciting new exhibition for RHG & non RHG members, with prizes to $4,500!

Hi fellow Red House Group members

I expect you are all out soaking up the arts activities associated with the Fringe & Adelaide Festival - but don't forget to keep in touch with Gallery M over this busy period.

The next exhibition featuring works by Cathi Steer & Angelo Gencarelli promises to be quite spectacular. Gallery M will be open from 5-8pm on the launch night, Friday 11 March.

Also - don't forget the Gallery M Open Contemporary Art Prize is coming up in August - with prizes to the value of $4,500. You can download an entry form at www.gallerym.net.au, or collect a printed version next time you are at the gallery.

Entries close 31 May, and must be accompanied by a digital image of your artwork. Independent judges will select the pieces to be included in the exhibition.

See you soon...
Julie & the team
